Distinctive Badges.—An announcement was made at the Coronation Durbar in 1911, that a distinctive badge should be granted to present holders and future recipients of the titles of 'Diwan Bahadur', 'Sardar Bahadur', 'Khan Bahadur', 'Rai Bahadur', 'Rao Bahadur', 'Khan Sahib', 'Rai Sahib' and 'Rao Sahib'. Subsequently the following regulations in respect of these decorations were issued—(1) The decoration to be worn by the holders of the titles above mentioned shall be a badge or medallion bearing the King's effigy crowned and the name of the title, both to be executed on a plaque or shield surrounded by a five-pointed star surmounted by the Imperial Crown, the plaque or shield being of silver gilt for the titles of Diwan, Sardar, Khan, Rai and Rao Bahadur, and of silver for the titles of Khan, Rai, and Rao Sahib. (2) The badge shall be worn suspended round the neck by a ribbon of one inch and a half in width, which for the titles of Diwan and Sardar Bahadur shall be light blue with a dark blue border, for the titles of Khan, Rai and Rao Bahadur light red with a dark red border, and for the titles of Khan, Rai and Rao Sahib dark blue with light blue border.

A Press Note issued in November, 1914, states—The Government of India have recently had under consideration the question of the position in which miniatures of Indian titles should be worn, and have decided that they should be worn on the left breast fastened by a brooch, and not suspended round the neck by a ribbon as prescribed in the case of the badge itself. When the miniatures are worn in conjunction with other decorations, they should be placed immediately after the Kaiser Hind Medal.

Indian Distinguished Service Medal.—This medal was instituted on June 28th, 1907, by an Army Order published in Simla as a reward for both commissioned and non commissioned officers of the regular and other forces in India. It bears on the obverse the bust of King Edward VII and on the reverse a laurel wreath encircling the words For Distinguished Service. The medal, 1½ inches in diameter, is ordered to be worn immediately to the right of all war medals suspended by a red ribbon 1½ in wide, with blue edges ½ in wide. This medal may be conferred by the Viceroy of India.

Indian Order of Merit.—This reward of valour was instituted by the H. E. I. Co in 1837, to reward personal bravery without any reference to length of service or good conduct. It is divided into three classes and is awarded to native officers and men for distinguished conduct in the field. On the advancement from one class to another the star is surrendered to the Government, and the superior class substituted, but in the event of the death of the recipient his relatives retain the decoration. The order carries with it an increase of one-third in the pay of the recipient, and in the event of his death the allowance is continued to his widow for three years. The First Class consists of a star of eight points, 1½ in in diameter, having in the centre a ground of dark blue enamel bearing crossed swords in gold, within a gold circle, and the inscription Reward of Valour, the whole being surmounted by two wreaths of laurel in gold. The Second Class star is of silver, with the wreaths of laurel in gold, and the Third Class entirely of silver. The decoration is suspended from a simple loop and bar from a dark blue ribbon 1½ in in width with red edges, bearing a gold or silver buckle according to class.

Order of British India.—This order was instituted at the same time as the Order of Merit, to reward native commissioned officers for long and faithful service in the Indian Army. Since 1878, however, any person, European or native, holding a commission in a native regiment, became eligible for admission to the Order without reference to creed or colour. The First Class consists of a gold eight pointed radiated star 1½ in in diameter. The centre is occupied by a lion statant gardant upon a ground of light-blue enamel, within a dark blue band inscribed Order of British India, and encircled by two laurel wreaths of gold. A gold loop and ring are attached to the crown for suspension from a broad ornamental band $\frac{3}{8}$ in in diameter, through which the ribbon, once blue, now red, is passed for suspension from the neck. The Second Class is $1\frac{1}{2}$ in in diameter with dark blue enamelled centre there is no crown on this class, and the suspender is formed of an ornamental gold loop. The reverse is plain in both classes. The First Class carries with it the title Sirdar Bahadur, and an additional allowance of two rupees a day and the Second the title of Bahadur, and an extra allowance of one rupee per day.

Indian Meritorious Service Medal—This was instituted on July 27th, 1888, and on receipt of the medal the order states "a non-commissioned officer must surrender his Long Service and Good Conduct medal" but on being promoted to a commission he may retain the M S medal, but the annuity attached to it will cease. On the obverse is the diademed bust of Queen Victoria facing left, with a veil falling over the crown behind, encircled by the legend Victoria Kaisar i Hind. On the reverse is a wreath of lotus leaves enclosing a wreath or palm tied at the base, having a star beneath between the two wreaths is the inscription for meritorious service. Within the palm wreath is the word India. The medal, $1\frac{1}{2}$ in in diameter, is suspended from a scroll by means of a red ribbon $1\frac{1}{2}$ in wide. The medals issued during the reigns of Queen Victoria's successors bear on the obverse their bust in profile with the legend altered to EDWARDVS or GEORGIVS

THE KAISAR-I-HIND MEDAL

This decoration was instituted in 1900, the preamble to the Royal Warrant—which was amended in 1901, 1912 and in 1933—being as follows.—"Whereas We, taking into Our Royal consideration that there do not exist adequate means whereby We can reward important and useful services rendered to Us in Our Indian Empire in the advancement of the public interests of Our said Empire, and taking also into consideration the expediency of distinguishing such services by some mark of Our Royal favour. Now for the purpose of attaining an end so desirable as that of thus distinguishing such services aforesaid, We have instituted and created, and by these presents for Us, Our Heirs, and Successors, do institute and create a new Decoration." The decoration is styled "The Kaisar-i-Hind Medal for Public Service in India" and consists of three classes. The Medal is an oval shaped Badge or Decoration—In gold for the First Class, silver for the Second Class and in bronze for the Third Class—with the Royal Cypher on one side and on the reverse the words "Kaisar-i-Hind for Public Service in India". It is suspended on the left breast by a dark blue ribbon.

LINLITHGOW, HER EXCELLENCY THE MARQUESS OF is a daughter of the late Sir Frederick Milner, Baronet and married His Excellency the Marquess of Linlithgow in 1911.

Her Excellency inherited her interest in all forms of charitable work for the welfare of the community from her father who spent many years of his life in helping those in distress, and who was affectionately known as the Soldiers' Friend owing to his efforts on behalf of disabled ex-Servicemen after the Great War 1914-1918. Her Excellency is particularly interested in Tuberculosis and has been—and still is—connected with the wonderful work done at the Papworth Village Settlement for the Tubercular in England (founded by her father, Sir Frederick Milner). Her Excellency is a well-known and popular hostess in London during the season, but she prefers a country life and is never happier than when staying at her beautiful home in Scotland Hopetoun House, on the banks of the River Forth. Her Excellency has many interests and excels at most games. She is also a keen gardener and has a considerable knowledge of all forms of plant life.

BOMBAY

By SAMUEL T SHEPPARD

ACCORDING to the preface, this book is "only a nibble at a few chapters" of the history of the City of Bombay, "made for the benefit of the many people who want to know something about Bombay but who cannot find any book to satisfy their desire"

He deals with the early history of the Island, why it was ceded by the Portuguese and how the East India Company got it, with reclamation from the early British days to modern times (a chapter which contains much from the India Office records that has never been published before), and with defence, industries and trade, the growth of the town, population, religion and learning, and social diversions

* * *

"Perhaps wisely the volume before us says little or nothing about politics. But it does convey a sense of the tremendous energy and enterprise that has gone to the gradual building up of the life of the great communities of India"—The Statesman

Dewan RAO SAHEB V B PARUIFKAR B A

AUNDH SHRIMANT BHAVANRAO SHRINIWASRAO alias BALASAHEB PANT PRATINIDHI, the Raja of Aundh, is a graduate of the Bombay University and a treaty Raja. His age is 69 and he is married to Shrimati Saubhagyawati Ramabai Saheb alias Maisaheb from the Rode family of Poona.

Her-Apparent SHRIMANT BHAGWANTRAO alias BAPUSAHEB is 18 years of age. He is the grandson of the Rajasaheb.

Shrimant Rajasaheb is alive to the rapid progress going on in the civilized world. A Legislative Assembly was established in the State in 1924. Its strength consists of 26 members with a predominating popular element. A notable feature of the Assembly is that it includes one female member.

By the Aundh State Act passed in 1931, a Darbar has been formed to run the administration. It is a miniature Executive council and consists of the Dewan of Aundh and a Minister appointed from the elected members of the Legislative Assembly. The Rajasaheb takes considerable interest in Rural Uplift and is making vigorous efforts in that direction. He is utilizing the knowledge and experience gained from his recent visit to Europe in solving rural and agricultural problems.

Shrimant Rajasaheb is a keen student of drawing and painting and has edited Pictorial Verul, Pictorial Ajanta, Pictorial Ramayana and the Life of Shivaji in three picture volumes. He also takes great interest in physical culture and has written in English a book on the subject called "Surya Namaskars," which has become very popular throughout India and abroad.

The State possesses an independent High Court. Most of the villages have Village Panchayats.

BALASINOR HIS HIGHNESS
NAWAB SAHEB BABI
SHRI JAMIATHKHANJI, BAHADUR, the present Ruler of Balasinor State, in the Gujarat Agency

Born 10th November 1894

Ascended the Gadi on 31st
December 1915

Educated At the Raj Kumar College, Rajkot, where he achieved the Diploma. Afterwards His Highness joined the Imperial Cadet Corps, Dehra
Dun and returned with success.
He is allowed to wear the Imperial Cadet Corps uniform.
His Highness is a ruler of literary taste and can compose poetry in Urdu and Gujarathi.
He is also endowed with the natural gift of writing drama and plays which are greatly admired in the province of Gujarat.

Married First with H. H. Begum Saheba Shri Subhan Bakhte Saheba, daughter of the Heir-apparent of Junagadh State, but she died. At present His Highness the Nawab Saheb has three Begum Sahebabs: (1) H. H. Shri Sardar Begum Saheba, (2) H. H.
Shri Khurshed Begum Saheba, (3) H. H. Shri Zohra Begum Saheba.
The senior Begum Saheba, Sardar-Begum Saheba, the daughter of the Thakor Saheb of Kervada, gave birth to a son in 1920 who unfortunately died in infancy. The third Zohra-Begum Saheba has given birth to two daughters.

His Highness the Nawab Saheb comes of a very ancient and well-known Babi Sunni Pathan dynasty. The ancestors of His Highness were the descendants of Sher Khanji Babi, son of Bahadur Khanji Babi, a distinguished officer in the Imperial Service at Delhi, who enjoyed a very high position at the time of the Mughal Emperors. Even to-day the same magnificent position is fully maintained. The Rulers of this clan have been famous not for their kingly pomp, dignity and splendour, but for their luxuriance of benevolence and exuberance of munificence throughout Gujarat and Kathiawar.

Military Force 60 Cavalry, 177 Infantry and 10 guns

Permanent Salute 9 guns. The ruler has been granted a sanad of adoption. He is also a member of the Chamber of Princes in his own right.

His Highness the Maharaja
Thakore Sahib is a Jadeja Rajput.
The early founder of the State Kumbhoji I had a modest estate of 20 villages. Kumbhoji II the most powerful chief of the house widened the territories to their present limit by conquest but it was left to the present enlightened and able ruler to develop its resources to the utmost and on account of its importance and advanced administration it earned the position of a first class state. Gondal has always been pre-eminent amongst the States of its class for the vigour with which public works have been prosecuted and was one of the earliest pioneers of Railway enterprise in Kathiawar.

There are no export or import duties, the people being free from taxes and dues. Comparatively speaking Gondal stands first in Kathiawar in respect of education. Compulsory female education has been ordered by His Highness. Rs 50 lakhs have been spent on irrigation tanks and canals, water supply and electricity to the towns of Gondal which is the capital of the State and to Dhoraji and Upleta.

There is Telephone communication throughout the State and a net work of roads with bridges and roadside avenues.

The people celebrated the completion of His Highness' fifty years beneficent rule by Tula Vidhi (weighing against gold) with unprecedented eclat in 1934.

His Highness takes keen interest in rural uplift work. On his assuming power he sanctioned one crore of rupees for rural development work. The State maintains its own postal system and through a network of the Gwalior Light Railway and the Gwalior Northern India Transport Company the various isolated parts of the State have been connected.

ADMINISTRATION

On November 2nd 1936, when His Highness assumed full ruling powers the Council of Regency which was carrying on the administration during His Highness' minority was converted into an advisory council designated as Majlis Khair which consisted of members of the Government with practically the same functions as were discharged by them during the regime of the late His Highness Madhav Rao Scindia. A new post of Huzoor Secretary was created for submitting to His Highness matters coming up from Departments and for seeing to the execution of Darbar orders, etc. He also supervises His Highness' Household Department.

With a view to improve the system of Government to provide for the growing burden of activities and multifarious duties of the State and to create facilities for his subjects His Highness was pleased to revise the distribution of work among various members of the Government. His Highness' Advisory Council now consists of 8 ministers and the Huzoor Secretary. The new constitution came into force from March 15, 1937.

The State has a Legislative Council of twenty members, eight of whom are elected and an Executive Council of six officials with a President. It maintains its own paper currency and coinage, postal system railways and army. It has a University with six Arts Colleges including one for women and Colleges for Engineering, Medicine Law and Teaching. It has also an Honours College affiliated to Madras University, a College for Jagirdars and a College of Physical Education. There are also a Central Cottage Industries Institute, a Central Technical Institute and an Observatory. The State is of great historical and archaeological interest, as within its limits are situated many old capitals of ancient and medieval Deccan kingdoms, famous forts, temples, mosques and shrines and the wonderful Buddhist sculptures and paintings of Ellora and Ajanta.

Capital Hyderabad—Population 466,894. It is the fourth largest city in the Indian Empire. The city is beautifully situated on the banks of the river Musi with fine public buildings, broad cemented roads, good electricity and water supply and an efficient bus service run by the State Railway. Among interesting places are the Char Minar, the Mecca Masjid, the fort and tombs of Golconda and the large artificial reservoirs—the Osman Sagar and the Himayat Sagar.

He attained his diploma standing first in the list of candidates from all the Chiefs' Colleges in India and was awarded His Excellency the Viceroy's medal. He won every class prize from the fifth to the diploma, five prizes for English and eleven others for various subjects. He won prizes in each division in succession for riding and represented the College against the Aitchison College for 3 years at tent pegging, and also at tennis. For several years he was captain of one or other of the junior football or cricket elevens and he was one of the best and keenest polo players in the college.

As will be seen, he upheld his family tradition as a horseman. From boyhood he was keen on hunting and pigsticking and before he had joined the College at the age of 10, he had accounted for many panther and bear to his own rifle. His Highness now keeps a racing stable and has had many successes. These active sports are not his only recreation for he has a good ear for music and is interested in painting and photography.

On leaving the college, His Highness Maharaja Shree Himmat Singhi took an active part in the State administration being appointed to His late Highness' Council, and later for several years was in charge of the administration under His late Highness' personal directions. He gained further practical experience from an extensive tour throughout India in 1929-30. He was therefore well qualified to take up his responsibilities as Ruler of His State when he ascended the Gadi of Idar. Since his accession in 1931, many schemes of improvement have been inaugurated which concern the social welfare of his subjects, their education, industries and agriculture. His Highness has embarked on an ambitious programme of reform and advancement which it is expected his experience and keen personal interest will enable him to carry through successfully.

His Highness has got two sons, Maharaja Kumars Shree Daljit Singhi and Amar Singhi, the eldest Maharaja Kumar Shree Daljit Singhi, the heir apparent, was born in 1917.

Born 18th November, 1882

Succeeded to the Gadi, 1914

The Jaisalmer State is a sovereign State in Rajputana. The Ruling House is the acknowledged head of the Lunar Race and the Rulers of Jaisalmer are the direct lineal descendants of Lord Shri Krishna. One of the most venerable and prized heir-looms of the House of Jaisalmer is the "Megha dambar'—the Regal Umbrella made by Vishwakarma—which was used by Lord Shri Krishna on State occasions. The eight-metalled umbrella which surmounts the palace of Jaisalmer towering high above the venerable walls of the historic hill-fort is emblematic of the "Meghadambar" and is indicative of the proud position which the House of "Jaisalmer" occupies in India as the head of the Lunar Race and its off-shoots. The Rulers of Jaisalmer are, therefore, styled as "Chhatrala Yadavapati"—the canopied Lords of the Yadavas. There is hardly any Ruling House in India with the only exception of Udaipur that can claim to be founded earlier than Jaisalmer. In the time of Maharawal Amar Singh (1661-1702) the Jaisalmer State was at the zenith of its power and glory and commanded an area of over 100,000 square miles. Its territory extended North to the Sutlej, comprising the whole of the Bahawalpur State, westward to the Indus including Sukkur, Bhukkur, Rohri, &c., in Sind, to the East and South included many districts such as Pugal (now in Bikaner), Pokaran, Barmer, Girab and Phalodi (now in Jodhpur). It was because of this vast territory that the Rulers of Jaisalmer were styled as 'Pashchimdar Badshah', i.e., "the King of the Western lands". The State still commands an area of about 16,062 square miles and is the third largest State in Rajputana and eighth largest State in India including Kalat. During the reign of Maharawal Mulraj this State entered into Political Relationship, with the British Government by a Treaty of "Perpetual Friendship Alliance and Unity of Interests" in 1818. The Jaisalmer State has never paid any tribute to any power.

RAMRAO alias BABASAHEB
DAFLE, RIN Raja of Jath
State

Born on 21st July 1909

Ascended the Gadi on 12th
January 1929

Family History Jath is one of the ancient Satara States. The Ruling family claims descent from Satvajirao Chavan, Patil of Daflapur to whom a Deshmukhi Watan was granted by Ali Adilshah, King of Bijapur in 1670. The Jahagirs of Jath and Karajagi Paraganas were conferred upon him by King Adilshaha of Bijapur in the year 1680.

The Raja Sahib was educated for some time in the Deccan College when he was suddenly called back owing to the serious illness of his father the late lamented Shrimant Ramrao Amritrao alias Abasaheb Dafle. He exercises full control over the administration of the State. During the short period of his rule he has evinced keen interest in the welfare of his subjects by introducing various reforms such as an independent High Court, a Local Board, etc.

Married to Shrimant Lilavati Rajc, the eldest daughter of the late Raja Sahib of Akalkot in 1929.

In 1932, he visited England to attend the Third Round Table Conference on the invitation of the Secretary of State for India. He is an all round sportsman and a good cricketer. He takes keen interest in Scouting.

Recently he was appointed sub Lieutenant in the Royal Indian Navy and has already undergone the requisite course of Naval Training.

The Rulers of Khairpur are Muslim Talpur Balochs and belong to the Shia sect. Previous to the accession of this family on the fall of the Kalhora dynasty of Sind in 1783, the history of the State belongs to the general history of Sind. In that year Mir Fatehali Khan Talpur established himself as Ruler of Sind and subsequently his nephew, Mir Sohrab Khan Talpur, founded the Khairpur Branch of the Talpur family. In 1882 the individuality of Khairpur State was recognised by the British Government.

Khairpur is a first class State. It is the only State in Sind. The Ruler is entitled to a salute of 15 guns outside and 17 guns inside the State.

MALPUR RAOLJI SHRI GAMBHIRSINHJI the present Ruler of Malpur
Born 27th October 1914
Educated at the Scott College, Sadra and the Mayo College Ajmer Succeeded to the Gadi in 1923, was invested with full powers pertaining to the State on the 16th February 1935

Married in June 1934 the eldest daughter of the Rajaji Sahab of Khandela, an old illustrious Shekhavat dynasty in the Jaipur State

Though young in age he possesses remarkable intelligence and great insight into State affairs. He enjoys the sincere affection and esteem of his subjects. In consequence of damage caused by frost to winter crops in the State, remissions were granted for the relief of all cultivators. The occupancy rights to the agriculturists in the State are granted by him as announced on the occasion of his investiture with full powers. His relation with his subjects is very cordial. There is a great future before the present Ruler who has proved his devotion and loyalty to the Crown and maintains with dignity the great tradition of the illustrious House of Rathod Rajputs. During the mutiny of 1857 A.D. the State rendered great help in suppressing disorder and preserving peace in the adjoining country. During the great war too it rendered all possible help to the British Government.

The State has made rapid progress in all directions including education and medical relief. The State of Malpur is well known in Nani Marwar. It is situated to the South-East of the old Mahi Kantha Agency. Its Political relation is with the Government of India through the Hon'ble the Agent to the Governor-General in the States of Western India, Rajkot and conducted through the Political Agent Sabar Kantha Agency. The State ranks first in order of precedence amongst the States and Talukas of the old Mahi Kantha Agency enjoying jurisdiction.

The Rulers of Malpur are Rathod Rajputs and belong to the Solar Race of which Shri Rama, the hero of the great epic Ramayana was the most illustrious representative. They are descendants of Jaychand the last Rathod Ruler of Kanauj (1193 A.D.). The Silver Jubilee of his late Majesty King George V was celebrated in the State with great éclat and a varied programme was enthusiastically observed.

The nearest Railway Station to the State is Talod on the Ahmedabad Prantij Railway at a distance of 35 miles from Malpur, via Dhansura and 46 miles via Modasa from where there are regular motor services.

Salute Permanent salute of 9 guns

Mayurbhanj ranks first in point of population among the States of the Eastern States Agency, numbering fortytwo, twentysix of which were till recently known as the Orissa States, fourteen as the Central Provinces States, and two as the Bengal States. The history of its Ruling family goes back into hoary antiquity and numerous copper plate grants and archaeological finds testify to its powerful sway, and to the vast domains that constituted the territory of the Bhanja Kings, for hundreds of years. Its geographical and strategic position constituted it an important buffer State at the time when the East India Company and the Mahrathas were engaged in a struggle for supremacy in Eastern India and Mayurbhanj assisted the British cause. During the Mutiny of 1857, the Ruler of Mayurbhanj again distinguished himself as a loyal ally of the East India Company. The State is administered very much on British Indian lines, judicial independence, which has been secured under a full powered High Court, being a special feature of its administration. The State is rich in mineral and forest resources and supplies the bulk of the iron ore needed for the Tata Iron and Steel Works of Jamshedpur. The present administration is making every effort to promote the industrial interests of the State.

NAYAGARH RAJA KRISHNA CHANDRA SINGH MANDHATA, the present Ruler of Nayagarh State, E S Agency

Born 1911 Succeeded December 1918 Invested with Ruling powers on the 20th July 1933

Married January 1930 A son and heir was born on the 4th September 1933

The founder of the State was a heroic noble named Surjyami Singh from Rewa. He established a fort at a place called Gunamati in Nayagarh on his way back from a pilgrimage from Puri and was afterwards elected by the people as their Chief Raja Bagha Singh the 9th in descent shifted the capital to Nayagarh which has since then remained the capital of the State. The present ruler of the State is 26th in descent from the founder.

The Raja Sahib has introduced many reforms in the administration of the State. Forced labour which was prevalent in the State from time immemorial was totally abolished and tenants were given fuller and better rights of disposition in their landed properties. The Ruler has made a European tour visiting several countries to study modern methods of administration. Since his return from abroad he has applied himself heart and soul to placing the State on the high road to progress on modern lines.

Primary education is free and compulsory. The State spends about 10 per cent of its total income on education and illiteracy among the populace is fast disappearing. There are well equipped dispensaries and a peripatetic doctor goes round to give additional medical relief in interior villages. Keen interest is taken in leprosy relief work.

The administration is carried on on constitutional lines with the help of an efficient Judicial and Executive Staff the ruler being the chief appellate authority in Civil, Criminal and Revenue matters. The Ruler is immensely popular among his subjects and he has won their affectionate love and regard by sincere and earnest devotion to his duty and interest in the welfare of his people. He is always accessible to all.

PARTABGARH STATE
HIS HIGHNESS MAHARAWAT RAM SINGHJI
BAHADUR of Partabgarh

Born In 1908

Succeeded to the Gadi In 1929

Hereditary Salute 15 guns

Partabgarh State, also called the Kanthal, was founded in the sixteenth century by a descendant of Rana Mokul of Mewar

The town of Partabgarh was founded in 1698 by Partabsingh. In the time of Jaswant Singh (1775-1844) the country was overrun by the Marathas, and the Maharawat only saved his State by agreeing to pay Holkar a tribute of Salim Shahi Rs 72,700 (which then being coined in the State Mint was legal tender throughout the surrounding Native States), in lieu of Rs 15,000 formerly paid to Delhi. The first connection of the State with the British Government was formed in 1804, but the treaty then entered into was subsequently cancelled by Lord Cornwallis and a fresh treaty was made in 1818. The tribute used to be paid to Holkar, is being paid to the British Government under the terms of the treaty of Mandsaur and was, in 1904, converted to Rs 36,350 British Currency. The State enjoys plenary jurisdiction. The highest administrative and executive office is termed "Mahakma-Khas" where sit His Highness and the Dewan of the State. There is a duly graded judiciary under a High Court. Revenue about 5½ lakhs

PATNA MAHARAJA
RAJENDRA NARAYAN
SINGH DEO, the present
 Ruler of Patna State, E S Agency

Born 1912

Ascended the gadi 1933

Educated At the Mayo College Ajmer, where he passed the Chiefs College Diploma Examination topping the list of successful candidates and at St. Columba's College Hazaribag where he passed Intermediate Arts Examination of the Patna University, topping the list of successful candidates of that institution

Married In 1932 the daughter of His Highness the Maharajadhiraj of Patiala

History Maharaja Ramai Deo, a direct descendant of Prithwi Raj Chauhan the last Hindu Emperor of India founded the State of Patna about 1150 A.D. The Maharajas of Patna have enjoyed the hereditary title of Maharaja from the very beginning. The Patna State is identical with the ancient "Dakshina Kosala" which was the kingdom of Kusha, the second son of Rama. Its various architectural ruins bear testimony to the ancient culture and civilization which flourished here in the olden times.

The State was taken under British protection in 1803 and ever since it has remained extremely loyal and is well known for its uniform devotion to the British Government. Patna is a well governed and progressive State and all its valuable resources are spent on works of public utility. It possesses very good educational and industrial institutions. Primary education is compulsory for all its subjects. It has a fully equipped Hospital at the Capital, with many out-lying Dispensaries and a Child Welfare Centre. There are telephone and telegraph connections in the important towns of the State. It has beautiful valleys having enchanting sceneries and an abundance of Shikar of all kinds of birds and beasts, particularly tigers.

Ruler of Sandur

Born 1908 Assumed the Gadi in 1928, Assumed the reins of Government in 1930

Married On 22nd December 1929 the eldest daughter of Umadat-ul-Mulk, Raj Rajendra, Major Maloji Narsingh Rao Shitole Deshmukh, Rustamjung Bahadur of Gwalior

Heir Apparent Shrimant Yuvraj Morar Rao Raje Ghorpade, born 7th December 1931

Second Son Rajkumar Ranjit Singh, born 16th February 1933

Daughter Princess Nirmala Raje, born 8th February 1934

SANDUR is the only Mahratta State in South India in direct political relations with the Government of India. It is bounded on all sides by the British District of Bellary except the South where its frontier touches that of Mysore. The Ruling House of Sandur is known by the family name of "GOOTYKFR GHORPADE". This State was conquered in early eighteenth century by Raja Siddoji Rao Ghorpade. His son Raja Morar Rao Ghorpade is renowned in history as the famous "CHIEF OF GOOTY," and held sway over the Mahratta possessions South of Coleroon. During the time of Raja Morar Rao Ghorpade, the State reached the zenith of its territorial expansion. In the Carnatic and Mysore Wars in which the East India Company were engaged in the middle of the eighteenth century, Morar Rao, as the staunchest ally of the British, rendered valuable assistance to the British from time to time notably in the famous siege of Arcot and Trichinopoly and also against Hyder in 1769.

This family was held in high esteem by the British and included in the Treaty of 1782 with Mysore, by which the British Government reserved to themselves the liberty to reinstate Morar Rao's family in the Country of Gooty, which Hyder had seized during the time of Morar Rao who died in 1776. The present extent of the State is but a corner of the country of Gooty, which was reconquered in 1790 by Venkatrao on behalf of Siddoji, the grandson of Morar Rao from Tipu Sultan.

The Peshwa who had for long coveted very much the conquest of Sandur prevailed on the East India Company to demand the surrender of Sandur in 1817 on the pretence that the Ruler of Sandur was one of his refractory vassals, whom the East India Company were bound by the Treaty of Bassein (1817) to reduce But when it was noticed that the Ruler of Sandur was never a vassal of the Peshwa, but that he was an "independent Prince before the Treaty of Bassein, his former territory was restored to him in 1818 on the only condition that there should be free passage to British troops and surrender of offenders from the British territory, and that there should be no interference whatever with the internal administration of the State These relations continue to the present day The State possesses powers of life and death and is unfettered in the exercise of its sovereignty The State pays no tribute to the Crown and is free from all pecuniary demands

The Ruler is the fountain-head of all authority, Judicial Administrative and Legislative The Government of the State is conducted by an Executive Council To help the Government a State Council has been constituted in 1931 with a predominant non-official majority possessing the right to initiate legislation, to move Resolutions and ask questions A Chief Court has been constituted under the Sandur Chief Court Act (II of 1932) and arrangements have been made with the Madras Government whereby the District and Sessions Judge Ex officio, Bellary is appointed

SANT MAHARANA SHRI JORAWARSINHJI the present Ruler, born on 24th March 1881 and installed on the Gadi in 1896. Formally invested with full powers on 10th May 1902. Educated in the Rajkumar College, Rajkot, and was associated with the Government Administration of the State for more than a year preparatory to his being invested with full powers. He is an intelligent Prince who keenly supervises the administration of the State. During his regime many improvements have been made and the State is making good progress. The revenue of the State increased—Its lands have been surveyed and regular settlement introduced—Provision for English education made for the first time and Primary and Secondary education made free throughout the State—Election system sanctioned for Municipality—

Free medical relief extended by opening new dispensaries in the district. Many other improvements have been introduced during his regime such as founding of a permanent Relief Fund, granting of liberal tagavi loans to the agriculturists during the time of scarcity. Money is also advanced to the local merchants by way of encouragement at cheap rate of interest. Other improvements of utility such as installation of electricity in the towns of Sant and Rampur, clock tower, public gardens, metalled roads in parts have also been made. The regime of Maharana Shri Jorawarsinhji has been anything but a bed of roses. Famine and lean years had made the financial condition of the State far from satisfactory, but wise management has been instrumental to keeping its head up.

The Rajaji exercises full powers and enjoys a dynastic salute of 9 guns. Primo geniture is the rule of succession to the Gadi and the Darbar's right of adoption has been recognised and confirmed by Government.

During the Great War the services of the Rajaji Saheb were appreciated by Government. The Government were also pleased to recognise the right of the Rajaji to be a member of the Chamber of Princes.

The Ruling Family in the Sant State belong to the Puar or Parmar caste of Rajputs and are believed to have descended from the celebrated family of Vikramaditya and Raja Bhoj of Ujjain. They first came down from Dhar and settled at Jhalod and finally about the 13th Century at Sant. The founder of the family was Rana Sant who with his brother Limde was forced to leave Jhalod and established himself at Sant.

SIRMOOR HIS HIGHNESS
MAHARAJA RAJENDRA PARKASH BAHADUR of Sirmoor

LT -COL HIS HIGHNESS SIR AMAR PARKASH BAHADUR KCSI, KCIE, the late Maharaja of Sirmoor State died in Vienna on the 13th August 1933 after a brilliant and successful reign of more than 21 years. His sad and sorrowful demise was naturally a heavy shock and deprived his son, His Highness Maharaja Rajendra Parkash Bahadur, of the solicitous and affectionate care of his father and placed the heavy and responsible burden of the administration of the State on his shoulders while still in the early years of his life

His Highness the present Maharaja was born on the 10th January 1913. He was carefully educated during the lifetime of his father who took special interest in the upbringing of his son. During his father's absence in Europe when the administration of the State was placed in the hands of a council he gained practical training in and immense knowledge of the administration and thereby equipped himself well for undertaking the responsibilities of his high office. Although it was before the due time, in recognition of his ruling merits and abilities the Maharaja was installed to his ancestral Gadi by the Hon ble Sir J A O Fitz Patrick, KCIE, CBE, ICS, Agent to the Governor General, Punjab States in November 1933.

The young prince is a good scholar in English and has a store of wisdom far beyond his years. Besides being hard working he is energetic, intelligent and a keen sportsman. He possesses very refined tastes, a sympathetic heart and is a lover of justice. As the Chief Justice of the State High Court he considers it his solemn obligation to dispense evenhanded justice with scrupulous care. Ever since his assumption of the role of Government he has administered the State with conspicuous ability, without sparing any pains to promote the interests of his State and subjects. He is always anxious to explore new avenues and examine fresh channels which might serve to raise the moral and material status of his people and country.

The revival of the agricultural and industrial exhibition is a happy indication of the deep and enduring interest His Highness takes in promoting the agricultural and industrial interests of his subjects. The inaugural ceremony of the exhibition was performed by His Highness the Maharaja on the auspicious occasion of his Raj Tilak which was celebrated in February 1935. A similar exhibition was being run on organised lines during the regime of His late Highness Maharaja Sir Surendra Bikram Parkash Bahadur KCSI and continued successfully during the reign of His late Maharaja Sir Amar Parkash Bahadur, KCSI, KCIL, but it had suffered a set back in the year 1914 owing to the outbreak of the Great War and also due to the unfavourable agricultural conditions then obtaining. The measure taken by the present Maharaja in reviving the exhibition is sure to pave the way to commercial development of the State and will prove a success under the patronage of His Highness to whose munificence it owes its origin.

Another event which marks His Highness' accession to his ancestral Gadi is the grant of certain concessions to his subjects which include (1) remission of land revenue and forest outstandings up to the year 1932

(2) remission in the term of imprisonment of State convicts

(3) grants in aid for meeting the educational needs of the people

(4) provision of a gymnasium for use of the public, (5) introduction of panchayat system, etc., etc

general happiness and welfare of his people. His sterling and outstanding qualities of head and heart have won for him the affection of his faithful and loyal people.

The State Crest & Coat of Arms

He is accessible to all and is fond of undertaking extensive tours with a view to studying the conditions of his people and keeping himself informed of the march of events in the State. He takes a keen personal interest in all that conduces to the well-being of his people. His sterling and outstanding qualities of head and heart have won for him the affection of his faithful and loyal people.

In fact the young Maharaja during the short period that has passed since his investiture with full ruling powers has proved himself to be a very promising and an enlightened Ruler and gives bright promise of proving himself a worthy successor of his illustrious father.

on 9th June 1901

The State of Talcher was established at the end of the 12th Century by Raja Naranhari Singh Deo a scion of the Raja Thakur family of Jipur. The Rajas of Talcher never submitted to the sovereignty of Puri or the Maharathas and they all along maintained their independence. The British Government recognised their independence and entered into treaty relations with the great grand father of the present Ruler in 1803. Raja Dayanidhi Birabar Harichandan helped the British Government with his troops in quelling the Angul rebellion. The present ruler placed himself and the resources of the State at the disposal of the British Government during the Great War, he also helped in quelling the Dasappa and Keonjhar rebellions.

The administration of the State is conducted under the personal supervision of the Raja Sahab. He is easily accessible to all his subjects and gives a patient hearing to those who seek redress from him. He takes keen interest in improving the administration and conducting it on modern lines.

The State maintains an independent judiciary. There is a Municipality at the headquarters of the State which is controlled by a Committee of Officials and non officials. Roads are lighted by electricity. Education is compulsory in the State. There are 75 primary Schools, one H E School and one Sanskrit Vidyalaya. There are six dispensaries including one travelling dispensary and one Ayurvedic Dispensary.

The State is noted for its coal mines which cover 224 square miles of which 8 square miles are now being worked by Railways and a Bengal English Firm.

CHINUBHAI MADHOWLAL RANCHHODLAL, SIR, Second Baronet, is one of the foremost citizens of Ahmedabad

Born 18th April 1906

Married In 1924 Tanumati, daughter of Zaverilal B Mehta of Ahmedabad

Sir Chinubhai Madhowlal belongs to a very high Nagar Brahmin family of Gujarat. One of his ancestors, Mangaldas, held an office of Bakshi under the Moghul Government and others under the Maratha Government and were good Persian scholars. His great-grandfather the Hon Rao Bahadur Ranchhodlal Chhotatalal CIE, was the pioneer of Cotton Mill Industry in Ahmedabad. He established the first Textile Mill in 1859. He was the first President of Ahmedabad Municipality and introduced many development schemes in the city. His death in 1898 cut short many other schemes of new industries.

His father, the Hon Sirdar, Sir Chinubhai Madhowlal Kt, CIE, first Baronet, followed in the footsteps of his grandfather in the development of business, and in the service of the city and province. His name is a household word in Ahmedabad for his liberality of heart owing to princely charities amounting to more than thirty five lacs of Rupees, in addition to other amounts spent annually for charitable purposes. In almost all the localities of Ahmedabad, he commemorated the names of Madhowlal and Ranchhodlal in one way or the other, and his patronage to education and learning was proverbial, being himself a good scholar of Sanskrit. He also donated a substantial sum to maintain a chair of Banking in the Sydenham College of Commerce, Bombay. In recognition of his public services and charitable disposition, a Baronetcy was conferred on him in 1913 by the British Government. He was the first and the only gentleman to have this high title in the Hindu community in India.

The present Sir Chinubhai inherited the estates and title after the death of his father in 1916, with all the good traditions of his father and grand father. He owns a leading firm of cotton business in Bombay and a big group of gineries in East Africa over and above his ancestral estates in Ahmedabad. He is also developing new industries in mining. He contested the recent Election from the Constituency of Sardars, Inamdars and Jagirdars of Gujarat as an independent candidate and was duly elected. The history of his family is the history of the social and economic development of Ahmedabad for more than half a century.

Origin Originally, about 100 years back, this was a free and independent country
under Mir Dost Mohammed Khan, the grandfather of the present Nawab Saheb Mir Dost Mohammed Khan was succeeded by Sardar Bahadur Nawab Bangal Khan, who was at first unfriendly to the British Government, but was brought round by Sir Henry Macmahon. He rendered valuable service in connection with the settlement of the boundaries of the Frontier and he was awarded the title "Sardar Bahadur" in 1901. Later he was invited by the Governor-General of India and honoured with the title, 'Nawab'. He was shot dead by a rival tribal chief in 1905 when the present chieftain succeeded to the Sardari. A friend of the British Government, when war broke out in 1919 between them and the Afghan Government, he naturally helped the former by weaning his men from the side of the Afghan Government and in recognition of this he was awarded the title "Nawab" in 1920.

Annual Grant Allowances granted by the Government of India amount to 40 lakhs of rupees in cash, besides grain allowances. Of these one-half is due to the Sardari, while the balance goes to the members of the family.

G C I E, HEREDITARY PESH-KAR, Prime Minister from 1901 to 1912, and President of the Executive Council of Hyderabad State from 25th November 1926-1937

Born 28th January, 1864,
direct descendant of Maharaja Chandoolal, the first Hyderabad Statesman to have realised the importance of alliance between his sovereign, the Nizam, and the British Power and who laid down the tradition for charity and philanthropy in the family. Maharaja Sir Kishun Pershad lives up to these two ideals of the House. He was educated first at the Nizam's College and then privately in Persian and Arabic, particularly in the teachings of Sufism. Under the nom-de-plume Shad he loves to write verses both in Urdu and in Persian mostly lyrics full of mystical thoughts.
He has also written many works in prose but mainly in Urdu.
Besides literature, his present hobby is sketching particularly landscapes in water colours. Maharaja Chandoolal as a descendant of Todar Mal, the Minister of Akbar culturally belonged to the School of Akbar. Maharaja Sir Kishun Pershad Bahadur also carried out the tradition of the house and treats Hindus and Mahomedans with equality and without prejudice.

Educated Trichinopoly and Madras

Enrolled as Vakil, Madras High Court, March 1890 practised as Vakil in Hyderabad and Secunderabad till 1913. Was appointed Government pleader and Public Prosecutor at the Residency in 1904. Was nominated non official member of the Hyderabad Legislative Council for three successive terms (6 years), appointed Advocate-General, then Secretary to Government Legislative Department. Legal Adviser to H E H the Nizam's Government and President Judicial Committee in 1913. Shortly after, he along with Nawab (now Sir) Nizam Jung Bahadur reorganised the courts under the orders of His late Highness in the course of which the separation of the Judicial and executive functions was strongly urged and eventually introduced under the orders of His Exalted Highness. The system is now working very satisfactorily. On his recommendation the Legislative Council was temporarily enlarged by the addition of elected non-official members from the mofussil but final orders were postponed pending consideration of an elaborate Report submitted by him and still pending decision for the enlargement of the Council and its powers. Was the joint author along with the late Hormusjee and Sir Ali Imam of the Constitution of Hyderabad under which the Government is at present working. Represented Hyderabad in the Sub-Committee of the Chamber of Princes 1918. Was appointed President of the Hyderabad Factory Commission. Retired in 1924. Entered the Legislative Assembly during the elections of 1930 and took a prominent part in the support of orthodox views and resisting all anti-religious and anti-social Bills. He was the leader of the Centre Party in the Legislative Assembly and was invited by His Majesty's Government to join the Committees on Reserve Bank and the Statutory Railway Authority but could not for reasons of health and religion go to England. He took keen interest on agricultural and Land Revenue questions and was unanimously elected President of the Rural group in the Assembly which he formed in 1934. He is now the acknowledged leader of the entire orthodox community in India.

KUREISHY RAFIUSHAN
 IFTIKHARUL MULK KHAN
 BAHADUR LT-COL HAJI
 MAQBOOL HASSAN, MA, LLB
 Minister for Law and Justice, Bahawalpur Government belongs to a respectable family of the Kureish of Arabia. Though hailing originally from the Meerut District his ancestors had long settled in the State before he was born at Bahawalpur in 1900. He received his early education in the State and later on joined the Muslim University, Aligarh where he passed his MA, LLB in 1925. From his earliest childhood he exhibited traits which gave promise of his future career.

His personal magnetism made itself felt in the sphere of his employment where he won the golden opinions of his colleagues as well as the ruler under whom he served. He began his career in 1925 when he joined the personal staff of His Highness the Nawab Ruler Bahadur of Bahawalpur as an Aide de Camp. But it did not take long to discover that the young incumbent had in him the makings of a capable administrator. Accordingly in 1927 he was promoted to the rank of Assistant Military Secretary. But this was only a stepping stone, as in January 1930 he was given the combined office of Private and Military Secretary, with the additional charge of the portfolios of Education and Municipalities and was subsequently raised to the status of Minister-in-Waiting.

In 1932 he paid a visit to England and other Western countries in company with His Highness the Nawab Ruler Bahadur—a visit which he repeated again in 1935 and in 1939. The beautiful volume in which he has chronicled the impressions of his first itinerary is an eloquent testimony of his great powers of observation and expression.
 He has also been to the Near East and performed the holy pilgrimage.

Recently, his services to the State have been recognised by the Government by the grant of the title of Khan Bahadur which is the first distinction of its kind to be conferred upon a purely Riyasti Vizier in the State. He is also the recipient of many decorations and distinctions from the State and is a member of the Court of Muslim University, Aligarh and His Highness the Nawab Ruler Bahadur's representative in the Senate of the Punjab University.

During the 8 years of his incumbency he has introduced many useful administrative reforms in the departments under his control, particularly the Municipalities, and the Court of Wards which he has completely reorganised. He is a very capable and efficient administrator, having won the highest praise of both the ruler and the ruled by his politeness, impartiality and keen sympathy with the people of the State. He is immensely popular with all classes of His Highness's subjects.

KUTWARA RAJA
SYED SAJID HUSAIN,
Talukdar of Kutwara

Born 13th January 1910

Educated First at La Martiniere College and then at Edinburgh University wherefrom he graduated

Succeeded his uncle in 1925 to the Zemindari

Married Princess Selma Sultan, Grand-daughter of the Caliph, Emperor Murad V of Turkey in March 1937

History The Raj was first founded by two brothers in 1007, Rajas of Gopi and Sopi of Perchun and Sopin (Gujrat) who fell victims to Mahmud Ghaznavi, and their kingdom then stretched through Kheri, Sitapur and Hardoi Districts. In 1488 Raja Mull 13th in descent from Sopi was converted to Islam by his friend Muhammad Shahi Farmuli, who was king of Bahraich and nephew of Bahlol Lodi. In 1680 Raja Baz Khan, the 22nd in descent lost the kingdom to Aurangzeb but some of the lands were restored to Raja Tarbiat, the 25th descendant in 1779 as Zemindari. Raja Mandar Baksh Khan ruled from 1827-56, and his widow 1856-1886 who was the first Taluqdaria of the estate. She was succeeded by her grandson, Saryid Raza Husain, son of S Nazar Husain of the Royal House of Yaman. He was a very philanthropic and able Zemindar, and was succeeded by his eldest son Raja Saryed Mustafa Husain, uncle of the present Raja Saheb, 1922-25.

Well-read and widely-travelled, the present taluqdar, Raja Syed Sajid Husain of Kutwara is very popular. The Raja Saheb contested the 1937 Indian Provincial General Elections held under the Government of India Act, 1935, and was elected to the United Provinces Legislative Assembly. He was awarded the Silver Jubilee Medal of his late Majesty King George V in 1935 and was appointed special Magistrate in 1936. He was elected President of Anjuman Islamia Lakhimpur-Kheri 1937-40.

In 1923 his services were lent to His Highness the Maharaja Dhiraj of Patiala as Home Secretary but His Highness soon raised his status to that of Home Minister placing under his control the administration of some of the most important Departments in the State. In 1928 his meritorious services to the State were recognised by Government by the grant of the high title of ' Nawab ' which is now a rare distinction.

After seven years' loyal and efficient service to the State His Highness was pleased, as a mark of favour and appreciation to appoint the Nawab Sahib as his Prime Minister and confer upon him the following honours and rewards —

- (1) Title of Aitmad-ud-doula Viqar ul mulk, " Nawab " and

He represented the State twice at the Round Table Conference and again as a delegate to the Parliamentary Joint Select Committee In January, 1933, His Majesty the King Emperor conferred upon him the honour of Knighthood

In October, 1934, His Highness conferred upon him the Honorary rank of General in recognition of meritorious services

During the tenure of his office the Nawab Sahib has introduced many important reforms in the State, and has proved himself to be a very capable and efficient administrator and a statesman of high order.
His politeness, impartiality and keen sympathy with the people of the State have made him immensely popular with all classes of His Highness's subjects

MOHIUDDIN FAROQUI, NAWAB SIR, the only son of Kazi RAYAUDDIN MUHAMMAD FAROQUI was born in the year 1891 and belongs to one of the few historic families of Bengal. He is the eleventh in descent from Kazi Omar Shah Farouqi, a lineal descendant of Hazrat Omar Farouqi, the second Khalif of Arabia, who migrated to India and settled at Delhi. He was sent out to Bengal as a military commander by Emperor Furrokhshiar and in recognition of his meritorious services was given the grant of extensive Jaghir (rent-free land) of two parganas in the district of Tippera in Bengal and the original Sanad conferring the Jaghri by Emperor Furrokhshiar is still in the possession of Nawab Sir Mohiuddin.

Nawab Sir Mohiuddin was educated at the Dacca College under the guardianship of Mr. Archibald, the Principal of the College. Even from a comparatively early age he developed a spirit of public service and a love for public life.

He was the first non official Chairman of the Tippera District Board, a Commissioner of the Comilla Municipality, Member of the Assam Bengal Railway Advisory Board, Member of the Dacca University Court, an Honorary Magistrate and a Member of the Governing Body of the Comilla College for several years before he entered the arena of politics. As the Chairman of the District Board he took a very active interest in the matter of communications and the results of his endeavours in this direction may now be seen in the improved roads and well-built bridges widely spread over the district. The Comilla Water Works and the Electric Supply which have done inestimable benefit to the town came into existence largely, if not absolutely, owing to the untiring efforts of the Nawab Sahib. A service of immense value that he did, while in the District Board was the provision of rural water supply by boring tube-wells. He encouraged the spread of education higher and primary in his district and it was he who was instrumental in raising the Comilla Victoria College from the second-grade to the first-grade institution that it is to-day.

He has been a member of the Bengal Legislative Council since the introduction of the Montagu-Chelmsford Reforms and was the non-official Chief Whip of the Council till he was appointed in 1929 Minister to the Government of Bengal in charge of Agriculture, Industries, Co-operation, Veterinary Department and Public Works. It is a matter of no little honour and distinction that he was elected by the Bengal Legislative Council to represent the Province in the Provincial Simon Committee where his services were acknowledged with great appreciation by the Rt Hon ble Sir John Simon. Nawab Sir Mohiuddin is the Leader of the House in the Council and this is perhaps the only and the first instance in the history of Provincial Councils that a Minister (who was returned as an elected member) has been made the Leader. The services that he has given as the Leader of the House to the country and the Government are worthy of his trained sagacity, mature experience and wide knowledge of men and matters.

As a Minister to the Government Nawab Sir Mohiuddin has given effect to a considerable number of measures which have already had, or are likely to have in future, far reaching results in improving the conditions of agriculture and industry of the Province. He introduced and successfully piloted the State Aid to Industries Act, a measure of great promise and usefulness inasmuch as it affords an opportunity to small and nascent industries to grow up with aid, as far as possible from the Government. His scheme for the relief of unemployment amongst educated middle-class young men is of great significance and is the first of its kind since the inauguration of the Reforms intended to open up new avenues of employment through industrial development of the Province. The United Provinces Unemployment Committee presided over by the Rt Hon ble Sir Tej Bahadur Sapru, P.C., K.C.S.I., I.L.D. has in its report many words of praise for the scheme. He took steps to establish Co-operative and Mortgage Banks for the relief of agricultural indebtedness and his scheme for restriction in the cultivation of jute with a view to fetch a better income to the cultivators has been a measure of immense benefit. He made serious endeavours to improve the animal husbandry of the Province and significant results are already available of the various agricultural researches taken up at his instance. The scheme for the training of detenus (persons detained for political reasons) in industrial and agricultural pursuits in order to afford them an opportunity to prove themselves useful citizens is now having a trial and its results are awaited with interest all over India. Nawab Sahab was the author of the Water Hyacinth Act which provided for removal of the water hyacinth pests from the province with organised effort. As a result many districts in Bengal are now entirely free from this pest. To give cheap credit facilities to commercial people an Industrial Credit Corporation Bank has been established with ten lakhs guarantee against loss by Government. The Daulatpur Agricultural College has been established for agricultural education and is the only one of its kind in the Province.

He enjoys the confidence of all sections of the people in the Province. In recognition of his meritorious services and activities he was honoured with the title of 'Khan Bahadur' in 1924 with that of "Nawab" in 1932. On the New Year's day 1936 His Majesty late the King Emperor conferred on him a Knighthood, a distinction which he richly deserved.

He married Quatrana Sultana Zobeida, eldest daughter of the Hon'ble Alhadj Nawab Bahadur Sir Abdelkerim Ghuznavi, Kt., of Dilduar, Ex-Member of the Executive Council, Government of Bengal.

MYMENSINGH ESTATE MAHARAJA SHOSHI KANTA ACHARYYA CHAUDHURY of Mymensingh one of the Chief Noblemen of the Presidency of Bengal was born at Muktagacha in Mymensingh on the 24th February 1886. He was the son of the late Maharaja Surja Kanta Acharyya Bahadur an illustrious Zamindar of Mymensingh well known for his many sided public activities in the province of Bengal especially for the bold and courageous stand he took in unsettling the settled fact of the partition of Bengal. Under the nursing care of his illustrious father Shoshi Kanta received his early education with great care and keen solitude. He was educated at the St Xavier's College, the Doveton College and the Presidency College, Calcutta. He passed the Entrance examination in the year 1904. He went to England for higher education in the year 1907 and joined Downing College, Cambridge. He successfully passed the Littlego and Additional Examinations and was preparing for the B A & L I B degrees and also joined Gray's Inn, to qualify for the Bar, but he had most reluctantly, to give up his much coveted studies in England and hurry back home on account of the sudden death of his father and to shoulder the responsibilities of his extensive estates.

Shoshi Kanta inherited from his father a noble and benevolent disposition and high ideal of public spirit. Though a young man just above his teens he began to take lively interest in higher education in his own district and his first act of public benevolence was his princely donation of Rs. 45,000 in the year 1909 to the Ananda Mohin College, Mymensingh, which in later days he supplemented by further donations for the establishment of I Sc. Class in the same College. His contribution of 1,00,000 rupees in the year 1910 towards the Edward Memorial Fund for the improvement of Mitford Hospital at Dacca deserves particular mention, the cause of Amelioration of suffering humanity is innate in his nature. In 1920 when the Mymensingh Hospital required further extension, Shoshi Kanta made a free gift of land worth about Rs. 30,000 for his new site and contributed 1,00,000 rupees to the Hospital Fund to name it after his illustrious father. He has further equipped the hospital with an X Ray apparatus at a cost of Rs. 18,000 and has granted an annual subscription of Rs. 1,000 for the upkeep of the hospital. He further gladly made over to the Hospital a sum of Rs. 17,000 received from the Government for value of his lands occupied by the old hospital and now acquired for kotwali thana. In 1910, he contributed Rs. 1,000 towards the cost of the construction of the new Ripon College building Calcutta. The Maharaja contributed Rs. 2,000 to the Madras famine fund. The devastating flood of Damodar in 1913, moved Shoshi Kanta's heart and he readily contributed Rs. 1,000 for relief work. During the great war in 1914 he contributed Rs. 60,000 for the purchase of a fleet of six Ambulance Motor cars for the Red Cross Society and paid Rs. 40,000 towards the various war relief and ambulance corps funds. He subscribed to the Indian War loan to the extent of 1,00,000 rupees. He has also contributed Rs. 2,250 and Rs. 1,500 to the Silver Jubilee Fund and King George Memorial Fund respectively.

Maharaja Shoshi Kanta filled a long felt want in Mymensingh town by establishing at a considerable cost the Carmichael Club where Europeans and Indians officials and non officials, have an opportunity to meet. It was mainly due to his efforts that electricity is available at Mymensingh. Besides these acts of benevolence, the Maharaja has granted monthly stipends to many deserving students and has undertaken to defray foreign education of some of them. Many public and charitable institutions and bodies are regularly receiving his contributions and his purse is always open for all deserving causes.

Shoshi Kanta entered public life in the year 1912 when he was only 26. On the formation of the Presidency of Bengal he was elected by the land holders of the Dacca Division to represent their interests in the Bengal Legislative Council. When the Reforms were inaugurated in 1921 Maharaja was nominated by the Governor General a member of the Council of State. In 1927 Maharaja entered the reformed Bengal Legislative Council as an elected representative of the Dacca University graduates. His career in the legislatures is marked by his outspoken advocacy for popular cause in principle. Being in Council he was a real asset to his community and his persistent zeal and unflinching devotion to their cause were amply demonstrated when he took a keen interest in the moulding of the Bengal Tenancy Act in 1927 to the satisfaction of landlords and tenants alike. He has been elected to the Bengal Legislative Assembly from the Dacca Landholders' Constituency recently.

Among his other public activities Maharaja Shoshi Kanta was unanimously elected Chairman of the Mymensingh Municipality in 1918 and transacted all its business with conspicuous efficiency till 1921. He also was elected Chairman of Muktagacha Municipality his native place in 1912. He is also connected with various public bodies. He acted as President of the East Bengal Landholders' Association for several years and is the President of the Mymensingh Landholders' Association and the Secretary of the Bengal Landholders' Association.

Maharaja Shoshi Kanta is a liberal Hindu and a great social reformer. He is the President of the Hindu Hita Sudhhi Sava, a society formed in 1917 for the elevation of depressed classes and for bringing about social and moral regeneration of the Hindus. As soon as the Harijan movement was started by Mahatma Gandhi Maharaja Shoshi Kanta opened his ancestral Kali and Shiva Temples for worship by all classes of Hindus. He is the President of the Mymensingh Hindu Sabha and presided over the deliberation of Mymensingh District Hindu Conference held at Tugul and was the President of All Bengal Hindu Conferences held at Hilli and Canning Town. He has made over his Palatial House at Benares to the Hindu Mission for the uplift of the Hindus. In Mymensingh Town he has recently constructed a beautiful Shiva Temple and has made a free gift of land to the Mymensingh Ram Krishna Pratisthan a social and religious institution of the place.

He is a thorough sportsman and was a very good cricketer in his young days. He was the captain of the Town Club Calcutta for several years. To give incentive to Mymensingh Cricket the Maharaja retained many veteran players to coach the local young men. He is also fond of hunting and a lover of games.

In recognition of his public spirit and munificence His Excellency Lord Hardinge conferred on him the title of Raja Bahadur on the 1st January 1913 at a comparatively young age. Later on in 1920 the title of Maharaja was bestowed on him by Lord Chelmsford in appreciation of his manifold acts of public utility.

Maharaja Shoshi Kanta has married the third daughter of the late lamented Mr. Byomkesh Chakraborty M.A. Bar at Law of Calcutta. He has three sons and three daughters. His youngest son Maharaj Kumar Snehasin Kanta Acharya who is a graduate of the Calcutta University has proceeded to England for higher studies. All his daughters are married.

Maharaja Shoshi Kanta is remarkable for his simple habits, unimpeachable moral character, charitable disposition and unostentatious manner of living. His high culture, affability and amiability of character are too well known. He is accessible to all from the powerful down to the man of the street, is kind and benevolent to his tenants and officers, modest and a man of his word, always firm and unyielding in matters of public duty, he is a true ideal, the like of which are very few in these days. By a recent circular, the Maharaja has announced that 5 per cent of his annual income should be spent for agricultural improvement and for provision of drinking water to the tenants in the villages.

NADAUN RAJA RAJENDRACHAND, the present Chief of Nadaun,
 District Kangra

Born In 1908

Educated privately, the Raja Saheb is young, able and popular, and takes keen interest in public affairs

Succeeded On 5th February 1936

History The Raja Saheb is descended from Raja Bhumichand of the Katoch clan of Rajputs. Tradition has it that Raja Susarmachand of this clan aided King Duryodhan in the War of Mahabharat

The last independent ruling chief, Mahuraj Sansarchand, had under his sway the whole of Kangra District and the adjoining hilly Ilaga, but through the vicissitudes of time, his Ilaga has been reduced to its present extent. Loyal and faithful to the British Government, the Raja Saheb's ancestors were the recipients of titles such as K C S I and C S I.

In all respects Raja Rajendrachand follows in the footsteps of his ancestors. His mother, Rani Nalagarhi, is the daughter of the present ruling Chief, Raja Jogendra Singh of Nalagarhi (Simla Hills), and the Raja Saheb is related to Jubbal, Bhajji, (Nurpur District Kangra) and other Jaikari Rajput families. Rule of primogeniture governs succession.

NANPARA ESTATE RAJA SYED MOHAMMAD SAADAT ALI KHAN, the present Raja of Born in the year 1904. Educated at the Colvin Taluqdars' College, Lucknow. His father Raja Syed Mohammad Ashfaq Ali Khan was a poet of great repute and author of many books. His late mother Rani Mohammad Sarfraz Begam of the Mohamdi estate, district Lakhimpur Kheri, Oudh, was well known for her efficient management of the Estate, and acts of benevolence.

During the Great War Rani Mohammad Sarfraz Begam helped the British Government with men and money. The Lucknow University owes her its gratitude for a substantial donation as well as the King George's Medical College and the Prince of Wales' Zoological Gardens at Lucknow.

Raja Syed Mohammad Saadat Ali Khan possesses in him the literary qualities of his learned father and the managing capacity and generosity of his benevolent mother, to which he has added the vast experience of a traveller having visited many times the continent of Europe and the near East.

There are many Muslim organisations which are indebted to Raja Syed Mohammad Saadat Ali Khan for his financial help and guidance.

Raja Syed Mohammad Saadat Ali Khan is a sportsman in the real sense of the word. He is fond of shikar and is a good shot. He plays tennis, polo and swims. He is a member of all the leading clubs in Paris, London and India. He is also a member of the U P Legislative Council, Vice-President of the British Indian Association of the Taluqdars of Oudh, President of the U P Provincial Moslem League and a patron of the U P Aero Club.

Raja Syed Mohammad Saadat Ali Khan also succeeded to the Nanpara Estate in the year 1911—thus bringing both the Estates of Nanpara and Mohamdi under his sway. Hence he is generally known as the Raja of Nanpara—a premier estate in the province of Oudh. The estate of Nanpara has a special reference to its history in the Gazetteer of the Bahraich district. Raja Sir Jang Bahadur Khan KCSI, maternal grandfather of Raja Syed Mohammad Saadat Ali Khan, can well be styled a personality of power and great influence. The title of Raja to the House was conferred in 1763 by Nawab Shuja-ud-Daula, King of Oudh, and recognised by the Government as hereditary. Both the Estates of Nanpara and Mohamdi are very old and reputed for their loyal traditions and royal history.

NA W A B MUHAMMAD MOIN-UD-DIN KHAN, NAWAB MOIN-UD-DOWLA, BAHADUR, the only son of the late Nawab Sir Asman Jah Bahadur, one of the three great Paigah Nobles of the Hyderabad State, was born in Hyderabad (Deccan) in the year 1891. Nawab Moin-ud-Dowla's Paigah or feudal state covers an area of 1,821 square miles and has a population of 276,533, while its annual revenue amounts to Rs 22 lakhs. He carries on the administration with the help of a Council consisting of a President and two Members

In 1919 Nawab Moin-ud-din Khan Bahadur was given the title of Nawab Eyanath Jung, and in 1922 the title of Nawab Moin-ud-Dowla. In 1923 he was appointed Minister in charge of the Industrial Department and also a Member of the Executive Council. The next year he was given charge of the Military Department and in 1927 he resigned the post, for, by an order of His Exalted Highness the Nizam, his Paigah Estates were released from the Court of Wards and he was made the Amir of the Sir Asman Jahi Paigah.

Though at one time a keen rider, Polo Player and Racing Noble, Nawab Moin-ud-Dowla Bahadur's present main recreation is shooting. He is also passionately fond of watching cricket, and he has done much to encourage the game and raise its standard not only in Hyderabad (Deccan) but in the whole of India. The All-India Gold Cup Cricket Tournament, which was started six years ago as a result of his munificence, attracts to Hyderabad most of the best Cricketers in India. The last M.C.C. and Australian fixtures in Secunderabad, Deccan, were also due to his keen interest in Cricket and his generosity.

Address Hyderabad (Deccan)

NAWAB KAMAL YAR JUNG BAHADUR, a nobleman of Hyderabad, is a son of the late Nawab Khair Khan. He owns an estate covering an area of about 312 sq miles having a population of 80,000 souls and yielding a revenue of about Rs 6 lakhs annually. The estate is divided into four Talukas which comprise 90 villages.

Few families that came out to India from Persia, have such a brilliant record of service to their credit as the one represented by Nawab Kamal Yar Jung Bahadur. His ancestors were Governors and Generals under Moghul Emperors and Shah Nawaz Khan was Prime Minister of the Deccan after the death of Asaf Jah I. Nawab Kamal Yar Jung Bahadur's father, who was Military Minister, was a brother in law of the late Sir Salar Jung, the famous Prime Minister of Hyderabad and had accompanied the latter on a political mission to England where he was presented to the Queen Empress and had the honour of dining with Her late Majesty.

Nawab Kamal Yar Jung Bahadur received his education partly in Aligarh and partly at the Nizam College. He married a daughter of his uncle—the late Nawab Khairul Mulk II. In order to gain administrative experience the Nawab worked as Assistant Home Secretary, Joint Registrar of the High Court and Inspector General of the Registration Department. His age is 42. The Nawab's favourite subjects of study are history, politics and rural economics. He is a good writer and a convincing debator.

The administration of the estate is conducted on modern and progressive lines. Survey and Settlement Operations have been completed in the entire estate on lines obtaining in the Bombay Presidency. The estate possesses 24 schools, 8 dispensaries, 30 tanks, 117 ponds, 22 canals and 18,000 houses. It maintains a force, 160 strong, costing Rs 25,000 annually. The Civil establishment consists of about 700 hands including village officials, and costs about a lakh annually. On pensions, scholarships and gratuities, the Nawab spends Rs 20,000 every year. All appeals against the Estate's Chief Executive Officer's decisions as regards assessment and Inam enquiries are heard by the Nawab Sahib himself and adjudicated in strict accordance with the principles of law and equity. The Nawab makes extensive tours of his villages, hears all complaints in person and keeps himself well posted with the conditions obtaining there.

The Nawab's loyalty to the Nizam is proverbial. The relation of his house with the Residency has always remained cordial. His father and uncle were recipients of a Guard of Honour on the occasions of their visits to the Honourable the Resident.

Purtal, a village in the Nawab's estate, contains diamond mines. The world famous Koh-i-Noor diamond originally came from the Purtal mines—a reference to which fact is also to be found in Murray's "Handbook for Travellers in India, Burmah and Ceylon."

Deoni, a taluka in his estate, is a well-known cattle market. The fort of Ramgur, a relic of the ancient Andhra Kingdom, is also one of his proud possessions and the Nawab is taking all possible steps to preserve it in its pristine glory.

The Nawab is fond of riding, rowing and reading. His Shameerpet Lake, about 18 miles from Secunderabad, is an attraction for excursionists.

NAWAB ZOOLCADER JUNG BAHADUR, M A (Cantab), Bar-at-Law, Middle Temple, Secretary to the Nizam's Government in the Judicial, Police, Education and General departments, traces his descent to Ameer Taimur known in English History as "Tamerlane". His great grand father, Mirza Jeevan Beg entered India in the early years of the nineteenth century. His grandfather Mirza Mogul Beg married a niece of the Emperor Akbar Shah, the Second Nawab Zoolcader Jung was thus related to the Imperial family of Delhi. His father Nawab Aga Mirza Beg Server-ul Mulk Bahadur came to Hyderabad in 1872 and was placed in charge of His late Highness the Nizam Mir Mahbub Ali Khan's education. He later served with great distinction as Chief Secretary to the Nizam and left his permanent mark in the Constitutional History of modern Hyderabad by framing the famous and probably the first Constitution of the State known as 'Qanuncha Mubarak'.

Nawab Zoolcader Jung was born in 1875. After receiving his education successively at the Madras College, St George's Grammar School Hyderabad and the Scottish High School Bombay, he passed his Matriculation from the Madras University in 1893. His late Highness the Nizam sent him to England as a special State Scholar where he joined Christ's College, Cambridge. He passed his Bar Examination, Middle Temple Degree in 1899. On his return, he was appointed 3rd City Magistrate and then after being successively made the Second and the Chief City Magistrate, he was elevated to the High Court Bench in 1907. He retired from service in August 1915. On the 13th June 1921 the Nizam graciously recalled him to Hyderabad and appointed him to the present post.

After a temporary retirement from active service in 1929 he was again recalled to this post in 1933 in recognition of his loyal and meritorious services to his august master and the State. There is no doubt his name will be ever associated with the rapid expansion of public instruction in modern Hyderabad as well as with the remarkable progress that the Postal, Archaeological and other Departments have made under his competent supervision. As a scholar endowed with literary talents he has contributed an interesting study on Machiavelli, while his History on medieval Spain in Urdu is regarded by critics as a work of permanent merit on the subject. Some of his addresses to academic assemblies have also considerable literary value and were generally very favourably received by Educationists.

BAHADUR RAJA, Member of H E H The Nizam's Executive Council, in charge of the Public Works Department, belongs to one of the most illustrious and historical Hindu Noble families of Hyderabad (Deccan)

Family History Some of his ancestors served the Nizams as Ministers, and one of them, who bore the same name as the present Minister for P W D was once the Chief Minister to the Nizam. The story of how Raja Rai Rayan family rose to eminent position first at the court of the Moghul Emperors and then at the court of the Nizams of Hyderabad forms one of the most romantic episodes in the history of those times. The family supplied a line of treasurers and ministers of the exchequers to the Emperor Shah Jehan. Nizamul-Mulk the founder of the present Asaf Jahi dynasty, was a great friend and patron of the family at the Moghul Court, and it was through this friendship that a branch of the family came to the Deccan and settled in Hyderabad.

Born 15th of August 1898

Educated At Nizam College

Raja Shamraj Rajwant is a lover of Art and Literature and his museum contains a valuable collection of Old Indian Paintings. He has lavished much care and money in installing a first rate Library in his palace which he has generously opened to the reading public.

UNIARA RAO RAJA SARDARSINGHI
BAHADUR of Uniar

Born On 3rd October 1894

Succession 1913

Married The daughter of Thakur Sahib of Lakhtar, has four sons

A Kachhawa Rajput the Raja Saheb traces his descent to Udaikaranji of Amber, whose great-grandson Narooji founded the Naruka House and left five sons. The eldest Rao Dasa was the ancestor of the Uniar family, and the second Rao Lala, of the Alwar family. The Rao Raja Bahadur is the head of the Naruka branch of that family settled in Jaipur, a powerful feudatory of the State, paying a tribute of Rs 38 338 to the Durbar, and holding an area of some 400 square miles at a distance of 70 miles to the south of Jaipur. Rao Chandrabhan was a Mansabdar of the empire and participated in the Balakh, Badksha and Kandhar expedition of Shahjehan, and his son Fatehsinghi participated in the war of succession against Dara Shikoh. In the battle of Sambhar—Maharajas of Jaipur and Jodhpur versus the Syed Brothers Hussainali and Abdullakhan—Rao Sangramsinghi won the day, snatching the flags from the Syed, which with the village Jaisinghpura given by the Maharaja of Jaipur still constitute the property of the chiefship. Rao Sardarsinghi I received the title of Rao Raja Bahadur with Char Hazari Mansab, 2,000 cavalry, Nakkara and Nishans from the emperor Shah Alam the I. Maharaja Sawai Pratapsinghi conferred upon Rao Bishensinghi the hereditary title of Rao Raja a salute of 5 guns, and Morchhals in Sambat year 1843—the recognised emblem of royalty. In the same Sanad the Maharaja recognised the civil and judicial and administrative powers of the chiefship. This Sanad was reconfirmed in Sambat year 1889 by Maharaja Jaisinghi.

The Rao Raja Bahadur enjoys all the hereditary honours and titles and carries on the administration of the chiefship in accordance with the spirit of modern times. He has opened a dispensary at Awan in addition to one at Uniar, has raised the upper primary school to Middle school and opened branch schools in all the Tehsils. He is very social and popular. In the Great War he furnished 250 recruits and subscribed Rs 20 000 to the War Loan.

There are many places of historical and architectural importance in the territory. Population 36,763 Revenue Rs 4 lacs

The Calendars.

A full Calendar will be found at the beginning of this book. Below are given details of the other Calendars in use in India.

The Jewish Calendar is in accordance with the system arranged A.D. 358. The Calendar dates from the Creation, which is fixed as 3,760 years and 3 months before the beginning of the Christian Era, the year is Luni solar.

The Mohammedan, or era of the Hejira, dates from the day after Mahomet's flight from Mecca, which occurred on the night of July 15 622 A.D. The months are Lunar.

The Fashi year was derived from a combination of the Hejira and Samvat years by the order of Akbar, it is Luni solar. The Bengali year seems also to have been related at one time to the Hejira, but the fact of its being Solar made it lose 11 days each year.

The Samvat era dates from 57 B.C., and is Luni solar. The months are divided into two fortnights—sudi, or bright, and badi, or dark. Each fortnight contains 15 tithis, which furnish the dates of the civil days given in our calendars.

“A Ha’p’Orth of Tar”

Many’s the good ship that’s been spoiled for want of a ha’p’orth of tar And many’s the promising business that has failed or never flourished due to false economy over print Print is the voice of business If it is cheap and shoddy, it finds an early grave in the waste-paper basket If, on the other hand, it is produced by The Times of India Press, Bombay (where quality goes hand in hand with economy) it will sell your goods or services as successfully as only good print can do
